God commands people to obey Him.
People can acknowledge and follow God's authority in their lives.

MEMORY VERSE

“Long ago, at many times and in many ways,
God spoke to our fathers by the prophets, but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son.”

Hebrews 1:1-2a

THE PROPHETS

BUSY BIN

As the kids arrive, they will stop by the table to pick up a snack and a drink. Each classroom will have a box of building materials for the kids to play with as their classmates arrive.

INTRODUCTION TO THE LESSON

Play Change Your Way: Invite kids to form a large circle. Direct kids to start walking in a circle, to the right. Explain to the kids that you will play some music and when the music stops, they must change the way they are walking, and now walk to the left. Direct kids to change back to walking to the right when the music begins again. Continue playing and stopping the music, directing kids to walk either to the left or the right. Consider asking kids to run, hop, or skip instead of walking. Say: Throughout the activity you all had to change the way you were moving several times. In today's Bible story, the prophet Zephaniah tells the people of Judah to change their ways. God wants to the people to turn from their sin and turn to Him.

BACKGROUND INFO FOR LEADERS

Zephaniah was a prophet with a royal bloodline. He was the great-great grandson of King Hezekiah. Zephaniah was the last of the prophets to prophesy before the fall of the southern kingdom, Judah. He preached during the last half of King Josiah's reign, so this book likely dates between 640 and 609 BC. Zephaniah's ministry in King Josiah's day inspired the young monarch to begin spiritual reforms in Judah (2 Kings 23).

Even though Josiah was only sixteen, he read the law to the people, confirmed their covenant with God, cleansed the temple in Jerusalem of idols, and destroyed all the altars of Baal in Samaria and Judah. Josiah's six-year reformation project was completed in 622 BC (2 Chronicles 34). Though this project was meant to bring about spiritual revival, many Jews remained stuck in their sinful ways, continuing the practices of idolatry (Baal worship) and injustice in the land of Judah. Zephaniah's book addressed the moral decay of Judah and her neighbors (1:4-6), pointing to and warning them of the coming "day of the Lord" and His wrath upon the nations, including Israel (1:7-3:20).

Zephaniah frequently mentions the coming of "the great day of the Lord" (1:7, 10, 14-16, 18). This is a phrase used by many Old Testament prophets to describe a catastrophic time of God's judgement- through His direct intervention in human affairs. Typically, this term is used for speaking of the end times, but like here, sometimes it is used in a local, more immediate way. Zephaniah predicted a preview, in the near future, of what was to come in the end times. The coming judgement was described in terms that even exceed the judgment that took place under Noah (1:2-3). It includes not only all human beings, but also the fish of the sea and the birds of the air (1:18). Judah faces judgment for its violation of the covenant and for its idolatry, especially among the priests (1:4-5). Judah has turned from the Lord so that they do not follow him, "seek" him, or "inquire" of him (1:6). Zephaniah warns that the day will be one of punishment for those who reject Yahweh and indulge in sin (1:8-13, 17), and those who dismiss Yahweh from everyday life (1:12).

BACKGROUND INFO FOR LEADERS

God is prepared to use Babylon against Judah. Zephaniah warned the people to look within themselves, to see their sin as a community and to repent of it. He told the people they should assemble before the day of Yahweh's wrath comes, and they should "seek the Lord" and "seek righteousness" and "humility," so that "perhaps you may be hidden in the day of the anger of the Lord" (2:3). The coming judgement will not only be for Judah, but the surrounding areas (2:4-15). The Lord allowed Babylon- and before them, Assyria- to punish and correct His wayward children. The intent was to restore them to a right relationship with Him, so He wasn't pleased with the arrogant, godless way that these nations messed with His people, and He was going to punish them for what they had done. (2:11). Even though God used these nations to punish His people, none of them would escape His ultimate judgement. The judgement on these nations is connected with a promise of salvation for Israel (2:7, 9).

Zephaniah's name means "the Lord will hide." Zephaniah offered hope that in the day of the Lord's anger, the people might be hidden from the worst of it. It is God's character to shelter His own from the full brunt of His wrath. God preserved Noah's family in the flood and He preserved His people, hidden by lamb's blood on their doors, from the final plague in Egypt. God's desire was not to humiliate or obliterate Israel, but to restore them to a right relationship with Him.

Afterward, God called His people to look beyond the judgement of Jerusalem and the other nations to the blessing to come. (3:9) And, as a more definite prediction of the glory of the end times, Jesus Christ will be in the midst of God's people (3:15-17). Because God delights in His children, He made a way back to Him through Christ, and in the end, all children will celebrate His presence among them.

LOCATE THE SCRIPTURE & TELL THE STORY

Tell the story: Use the Background Info for Leaders and the summary below as you teach today's lesson.

“When Zephaniah was the king of Judah, God gave a message to a prophet named Zephaniah. God said a day is coming called “the Day of the Lord.” On that day, God is going to punish people for their sin. “I will destroy everything on earth,” God said. “I will remove all people from the earth.” Zephaniah shared God’s message about the future with the people of Judah.

TELL THE

A few evil kings had been in power in Judah, and the people had turned away from God. God said, “I will get rid of all things and places My people used to worship false gods. I will punish the leaders and greedy salespeople. I will punish the people who think I just sit back and do nothing.”

Read directly from Scripture, use The Jesus Storybook Bible, The Biggest Story Bible, or the summary provided in the lesson

Zephaniah told the people what an awful day the Day of the Lord will be: a day of wrath, a day of trouble, a day of destruction, a day of darkness, a day of clouds and blackness. The Lord will show His anger because everyone has sinned against Him.

This was terrible news! What were people to do? “Come together before it is too late,” Zephaniah said. “Change your ways. Turn to God and obey Him. Be humble. Maybe you will be safe from God’s anger.”

God would also judge the countries around Judah. Some people would lose their land. Others would be destroyed. Would anyone be safe from God’s anger? No, even the people in Jerusalem would be punished for their disobedience.

Story

Put the events in order, draw a comic strip, build it with blocks or playdough, act it out, etc...

God told the people what was coming so that they would learn a lesson. “I want you to fear Me and respect Me,” God said.

Then Zephaniah gave the people hope. When all these terrible punishments happened because of sin, God would keep safe the people who trust in Him. God promised restoration; He will fix everything, making it like new.

THE PROPHETS

The day when God makes things right will be such a happy day for His people. God's people will be glad. "Sing and be happy! Shout for joy!" Zephaniah said. "The Lord will be with you, and you won't need to worry about anything bad happening.

"God will be with you," Zephaniah said. "He will save you and show you how much He loves you."

Share the GOSPEL:

Zephaniah's prediction of the kingdom age points to Christ as the Lord within Israel (3:5), the righteous Judge of all earth's nations (3:8) and the reigning "King of Israel, the Lord" (3:15). Zephaniah warned Judah that a day of the Lord, a more immediate and local series of judgements, was coming- first against the Jews for their idolatry, and then for the nations whom God would use to punish them. These judgements would serve as a preview of the ultimate day of the Lord, when God will judge the entire world in the end times. Mercy is as much a characteristic of God as justice is- displayed most obviously in the person of Jesus Christ- and we see this aspect of the Lord's character in the book of Zephaniah too.

God is merciful. He warned the people of Judah to repent and return to Him many times. God is also just. He must judge sin because sin is an act of rejecting God and His holy character. God sent the prophet Zephaniah to remind the people of Judah of both God's mercy and His justice. God's love leads Him to act for the good of people, which means sin must be punished because sin separates us from Him.

At the end of time, when all God's enemies are defeated and Jesus is dwelling as king among Israel, Zephaniah's words will be completely fulfilled: "The Lord your God in your midst, the Mighty One, will save; He will rejoice over you with gladness, He will quiet you with His love, He will rejoice over you with singing" (3:17). What a wonderful image of the crowning work of redemption!

QUESTIONS TO REBUILD THE STORY

“Storying” Questions: As you ask these questions, have your 2nd-5th grade kids find the answers in the actual verses of scripture instead of recalling them from your re-telling of the story. We always want to encourage all of our kids to go directly to God’s Word over a commentary on or summary of scripture.

1. During who’s reign did Zephaniah serve?
2. To which kingdom did Zephaniah speak?
3. What sin did Zephaniah confront?
4. How does Zephaniah describe the “day of the Lord”?
5. What hope do we see offered in this book?
6. What does this story teach me about God?
7. What does this story teach me about the Gospel?
8. What does this story teach me about myself?
9. Are there any commands in this story to obey? How are they for God’s glory and my good?
10. Are there any promises in this story to remember? How can they help me trust and love God?
11. How does this story help me live for Christ?
12. How does this story show God’s mercy?
13. How does this story show God’s justice?
14. Why is God angry over sin?
15. How can we have hope in a sinful world?

THE PROPHETS

PRAYER PROMPTS

God, You are just and merciful. Thank You for sending Jesus to take the punishment for our sin. Help us to be quick to repent! We love You!

IF TIME ALLOWS:

Help the kids in your group practice memorizing the books of the Bible by singing through the Books of the Bible song on our Books of the Bible Spotify playlist. Use the printed copies of the books of the Bible in your classroom to follow along. 3rd-5th graders, practice putting the books of the Bible in order using the popsicle sticks. Have several groups of kids compete against each other or work together to see how fast your class can order them.

MISSIONS EMPHASIS:

For the months of August, September and October Creek Kids will be collecting money for the Connie Maxwell Children's Home. Please visit their website for pictures and descriptions of some of the services they offer that you can share with your group. A generous donor will match all of our donations. Encourage your class to collect money and donate it in the giving funnel in the upstairs lobby. Kids can donate with their families as they arrive, or you can go together as a class on the way back to the Worship Center at the end of SS.

REVIEW UNIT VERSE:

Work on memorizing this weeks verse with the kids in your group. Use the Memory Verse Idea Handout for some fun ways to work on the verse together.
